PIPA Q&A: Health & Medicine

Tuesday, 26 January 2021

Please join us as Alexander White, Promila Gonsalves and Melanie Fullerton discuss data privacy issues, and address frequently asked questions, in relation to the implications of the Personal Information Protection Act 2016 (PIPA) and it’s legal and regulatory implications for medical practices and professionals.

Date: Tuesday, 26 January 2021

Time: 12.30pm -1.30pm (Atlantic Time)

Speakers:

Alexander White

Commissioner White has served as Bermuda’s first Privacy Commissioner since January 2020. He is a lawyer qualified to practice law in the United States and a former US federal privacy adviser and IAPP Advisory Board member, with experience working in the insurance industry and managing a state government’s privacy program.

Promila Gonsalves

Promila Gonsalves is a Privacy Engineer & Advisor at The TLC Group of Companies with over 10 years of experience in data privacy. She has worked with a range of global organizations, from technology start-ups to national government-lead initiatives, across various sectors, with a niche in healthcare. Promila holds the CIPP/C and CDPSE privacy designations and is an active member of the global privacy community, taking part in the IAPP Training Advisory Board, ISACA CDPSE Working Group and recognized as the 2019 IAPP Young Privacy Professional Leader for Toronto. With the TLC Group, Promila supports the implementation of privacy within an organization, by focusing on privacy by design to ensure privacy technology platforms and products that comply with legislative requirements, incorporate best practices, build trust and advance data privacy.

Melanie Fullerton

Melanie Fullerton is a senior associate in Walkers’ Global Regulatory & Risk Advisory Group. She advises on Bermuda regulatory matters, regularly advising clients on the existing regulatory framework in Bermuda as well as the evolving regulatory landscape with particular focus on the developing Personal Information Protection Act (PIPA).
